

Transylvania NAACP and this coalition of community leaders affirms non-violence as a foundational principle. We resist oppression and injustice with an unwavering commitment to the guarantees of justice and equality as stated in the United States Constitution.

We work for a civil society where differences are celebrated rather than feared, where conflicts are resolved peacefully, and where peace and justice protect every individual.

American democracy rests on the Constitutional guarantee that every American and every person residing in this country has the right to due process of law. And the first Amendment affirms "the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances." With every reciting of our pledge of allegiance, we affirm liberty and justice for all.

We stand with our community to weather these terrible times together and with a commitment to the tradition of peaceful action.
